The total number of international passengers at Swedavia's ten airport in November was 2,032,000, which is essentially unchanged from the figure for November last year. However, the period January-November saw a two per cent increase, to 26,499,000.

The number of domestic passengers in November decreased nearly five per cent, to 1,210,000, while the number for the period January-November decreased more than three per cent to 12,552,000.

At Stockholm Arlanda Airport, Swedavia's largest airport, which accounts for most of the company's domestic and international traffic, total passenger volume fell nearly one per cent to 2,034,000 passengers in November. At Göteborg Landvetter Airport, passenger volume was on a par with November last year, 504,000. At Luleå Airport, passenger volume increased almost one per cent.

Both Stockholm Arlanda Airport and Göteborg Landvetter Airport saw a one per cent increase in total passenger volume during the period January-November 2018, whereas passenger volume at Swedavia's other airports decreased. As a result of the increase for the company's big airports, total passenger volume at Swedavia's ten airports was unchanged compared to the same period in 2017.
